Step 2: Log into Your Alaska Airlines Account

If you already have an account with Alaska Airlines, you can log in by entering your username and password. Once logged in, navigate to the "Manage Booking" section to access your flight details. If you don't have an account, you can proceed by entering your reservation number and the last name of the passenger to retrieve your booking.

Step 3: Find Your Reservation

After logging in or entering your booking details, locate the specific flight reservation you wish to cancel. This will bring up all the details of your flight, including departure times, flight number, and ticket type.

Step 4: Click "Cancel Flight"

Once you have the details of your flight, you should see an option to cancel your flight. Select this option, and follow the on-screen prompts. Alaska Airlines will ask for confirmation to ensure that you want to proceed with the cancellation. Be sure to double-check your reservation before proceeding.

If your booking is eligible for cancellation, you will be informed about any applicable fees or refund options at this stage.

Step 5: Review Cancellation Terms

Before finalizing your cancellation, Alaska Airlines will display the terms of cancellation. Depending on the type of ticket you purchased (refundable vs. non-refundable), you may receive a full refund, or a travel credit may be issued for future flights.

- Refundable Tickets: If you purchased a refundable ticket, you will receive a full refund after cancellation.
- Non-refundable Tickets: For non-refundable tickets, Alaska Airlines may charge a cancellation fee, and the remaining value may be offered as credit for future travel.

If the cancellation is within 24 hours of booking, you will typically receive a full refund, as per the 24-hour cancellation policy.

Step 6: Confirm and Complete the Cancellation

Once you confirm the cancellation and accept the cancellation terms, Alaska Airlines will process your request. A confirmation email will be sent to the email address you provided during booking. This email will include details about your cancellation and any refund or credit status.

If you do not receive an email or if you encounter any issues during the cancellation process, you can contact Alaska Airlines' customer service for further assistance.

Step 7: Contact Customer Service (If Needed)

If you prefer to cancel your flight over the phone or encounter any issues during the cancellation process, you can contact Alaska Airlines customer service directly. They are available to help you with cancellations, refund requests, and other inquiries.

- USA: +1 "866" 450 "7394"
- UK: +44 800 054 8541
- Mexico: +52-800-351-0319
- Australia: → [[📞+611-(800)-956 -584}}

Customer service representatives will assist you in processing the cancellation and ensuring that you receive the appropriate refund or travel credit.

Step 8: Check for Refunds or Travel Credits

After canceling your flight, check your account or credit card statement for the refund or travel credit, depending on the ticket type. Refunds typically take 7-10 business days to process, while travel credits may be applied to your Alaska Airlines account for future use.
